Faculty and Administration

For the past decade, Medical College of Virginia has flourished under the leadership of Dr. Robert Blackwell Smith, Jr. A native Virginian, Dr. Smith received his Bachelor of Science degree from the School of Pharmacy here at Medical College of Virginia in 1937. In 1938, the University of Florida awarded him a Master of Science degree in pharmacology and bacteriology. Dr. Smith was a graduate scholar in pharmacology while at the University of Florida, and a university fellow in pharmacology at the University of Chicago, where, in 1941, he received his Ph.D. in pharmacology. During World War II, Dr. Smith was a pharmacologist for the Division of Pharmacology of the United States Food and Drug Administration. In 1945, he returned to the Medical College of Virginia as Assistant Dean of the School of Pharmacy. Two years later, he became Dean of that school. In July of 1954, Dr. Smith was appointed assistant president of the Medical College of Virginia: and, in July of 1956, he assumed the presidency. Dr. Smith maintains a membership in various professional and scientific organizations. Among these are the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Association of American Medical Colleges, and the Richmond Dental Society. Dr. Smith is a member of Sigma XI, Phi Kappa Phi, Rho Chi, and Omicron Kappa Epsilon honorary societies.

MCV Student Council

The Student Council is the governing body of the entire student body of the Medical College of Virginia (all matriculated students of the schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Nursing, Physical Therapy, Hospital Administration, Medical Technology and Graduate Studies). The Council is composed of the presidents of the schools and the elected representatives of each class, the number of representatives per class being determined by the number on roll in each class.

As a governing organization the Council represents the Student Body in any situation that may arise and interprets the Constitution whenever any article, or phrase, is in question.

The Honor Council

Ever since man has had a society he has made certain laws and mores for his society to follow. The same is true of the Honor System at the Medical College of Virginia. The Honor System is a system of self-government whereby the students, themselves, eliminate from the Student Body those students who fail to deport themselves as honorable men or women in all of their college matters.

The Honor Council is composed of a member from each of the classes at M.C.V. who has been elected by his fellow classmates. The vice-president of the Student Council serves as chairman of the Honor Council.

It is of utmost importance for each student to realize his duty as a part of the Honor System and that part is in upholding the cherished tradition of honor among a community of self-governing students. Without the cooperation of each student there would be no Honor System, for each student is a basic part of our Honor System.

The Beacon

The Beacon has been the handbook for nursing students at MCV containing the School of Nursing Constitution and Bylaws, MCV Honor Code, and Dormitory Regulations. In addition to nursing students, this year The Beacon served the women residents of Cabaniss Hall, MacFarland Hall and Randolph Minor Hall.

The Beacon editor or co-editors are elected each year by ballot from members of the rising senior class. This year the co-editors were Nancy Breinig and Margaret Anne Whitley. It is their responsibility to keep a record of amendments of the Constitution and Bylaws and of recommendations for revision of The Beacon each year.

In the future it is proposed that all women students will be housed in one dorm. Therefore a new handbook that will govern all women students is being published by the Dean of Students' Office. The handbook committee is composed of students from the Schools of Nursing, Pharmacy, Medical Technology, Physical Therapy and X-Ray Technology.

Co-editors: Nancy Breinig and Margaret Whitley

Student American Medical Association

The Student American Medical Association (SAMA) was founded in Chicago in December, 1950. Although sanctioned by the American Medical Association, the SAMA is an autonomous organization operating independently in the best interests of its membership.

The constitution of the Association clearly defines the reason for its existence . . . "The objects of this Association shall be to advance the profession of medicine, to contribute to the welfare and education of medical students, interns and residents, to familiarize its members with the purposes and ideals of organized medicine, and to prepare its members to meet the social, moral and ethical obligations of the profession of medicine."

There must be an easier way to learn to do this!

Student Dental Society

The Student Dental Society at the Medical College of Virginia serves to familiarize the student with an organization of great importance in his chosen field. There is unanimous participation in membership to this society by the School of Dentistry. The chapter's executive committee is comprised of two representatives and the officers from each of the four classes.

The Society serves to tie together the various groups in the School of Dentistry by a bond of professional interest. Membership affords each student with a monthly copy of The Journal of the American Dental Association

The two main objectives of the Society are the promotion of scholarship and professionalism among its members.

Officers: Jim Glore, Vice President; Wayne Adams, Secretary-treasurer; Fred Ridenhour, President

Student Nurses Association

The Student Nurses Association of Virginia is an organization which is designed to familiarize the student more fully with her profession and her professional organizations. SNAV attempts to do this by planning school, district, and state meetings of the nurses, at which they may discuss topics of common professional interests. Also, opportunity is provided for the students to socialize and get to know each other better, and to work with each other on beneficial projects. Membership is voluntary, but each student is urged to join as her duty to herself and to her profession.

Secretary: Lucy Townsend; Historian: Joan Black; President: David Jones; Treasurer: Danny Counts; Vice President: Phillip Davis.

Virginia Pharmaceutical Association and American Pharmaceutical Association

This year for the first time, the two former pharmaceutical associations at the Medical College were represented by a single organization, the Medical College of Virginia School of Pharmacy Joint Student Chapter of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association. The aims of this organization are to encourage the advancement of pharmacy as a science and as a profession and to foster student interest in professional organizations. The chapter further attempts to improve public health through pharmaceutical service by promoting high standards of professional practice.

As a member of the student chapter, the pharmacist of the future learns today of the challenges to be met in the practice of pharmacy, the exacting demands and responsibilities, and the significant position of the pharmacist on the allied health professions team.

At monthly meetings, the chapter presents informative programs: pertinent discussions, varied speakers or motion pictures, which serve to broaden the student's scope of the practice of pharmacy.

Essentially, the student chapter unites the students of pharmacy, so that through observation and participation, they may better serve their fellowman through the services they render.

MCV Glee Club

Aw right now, ya' dirty rats, we'll do MY way!

Will the high C in the back please stop shattering windows?

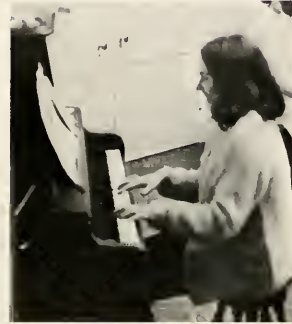

The MCV Glee Club, newly formed this year, consists of students of all the MCV schools. Meeting three times a week, the students organized Christmas Carols to sing in the hospital and a program for the Student Nurses Association Meeting.

Under the direction of John Fisher and the Presidency of Linda Fisher, the Glee Club will provide the music for the Musical in the spring.

In its incipient stages the MCV Glee Club has become a relaxing outlet for musically inclined students.

Interfaith

The Inter-Faith Committee is composed of students from each of the schools from the major faiths and denominations represented on campus. Its purpose is to promote interfaith dialogue among the students. We are still experimenting with ways to accomplish this! So far campus vespers, the vespers choir, an occasional speaker and a Lenten study group have all proved to be successful. The Inter-Faith Committee is growing slowly, but steadily. It is dynamic and, like all things at MCV is changing rapidly.

The Alumni Association

In June of 1966, new careers for many people will begin: Doctors, Nurses, Dentists, Physical Therapists, Pharmacists, and Hospital Administrators. The Alumni Association, in its seventy-seventh year, welcomes these graduates into the Association. There are presently over twenty-seven hundred members.

The Association is housed in the Maury House which was purchased and renovated by them in 1947. The house was built by Dr. Scורות Maupin, one of the founders of MCV, in 1853. A warm welcome awaits all alumni in this historic house.

The Student Nurses

The Tower of London

The first tour of Europe sponsored by the School of Nursing and planned by Mrs. Mary Gordon commenced on August fifth. A group of twenty-nine students and faculty took off from Philadelphia airport and, after one stop in Boston, arrived in London in the early morning. Thus began our stay in London which included side trips to Canterbury, Oxford, Stratford-on-Avon, and a boat ride on the Thames River. For two days, we visited Edinburgh, Scotland and rode through the Trossachs—a site of unbelievable scenery! In Holland, we visited the art museums where we saw the masterpieces of Van Gogh; and we traveled down the many intricate canals. The canals were equally as romantic at night with the lights outlining them.

With all the wonderful places we visited, and all the wonderful sights we saw, each of us could write a book. We hope every MCV student can someday share the beauty and excitement of all of Europe.

Sigma Zeta

Sigma Zeta Honorary Science Fraternity was founded at Shurtleff College in Alton, Illinois in October, 1925, by three science professors, Elmer E. List, J. Ellis Powell, and Ralph K. Carleton. Their intention was to provide a local society for the recognition of outstanding science and mathematics students. However, the organization captured the attention of neighboring schools and at the first conclave held in Alton, the national character of Sigma Zeta was formally announced.

MCV received the charter for the formation of its Gamma Chapter the following year and the official gavel of the national organization contains in it a piece of the flooring from the Egyptian Building. Since its inception, Sigma Zeta has grown and is presently represented in 21 colleges and universities throughout the country. Its purpose today is to encourage and foster the attainment of a knowledge of the sciences and to recognize in its membership the attainment of high scholarship in this field.

Alpha Sigma Chi

Alpha Sigma Chi is an honorary leadership society organized to serve the college and student body, and to grant recognition to those students who through meeting high standards of leadership, scholarship, and character, have demonstrated ability and willingness to play prominent roles in carrying on student activities.

Members are selected from the schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Nursing, and Pharmacy. An honorary member is chosen annually from among the faculty.

Alpha Sigma Chi has existed at MCV since 1938, and purports to provide for the school an organization of highest ideals and standards, and to create a spirit of fellowship and cooperation among students in the four schools.

Alpha Omega Alpha

The Brown Sequard Chapter of Alpha Omega Alpha, Honorary Medical Society was organized at MCV in 1940 under the direction of Dr. William B. Porter. The society was founded in 1902 by William W. Root at the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois. Selection of membership is based upon the qualities of scholarship in the broad sense, which connotes continuous industry, effectiveness in method of work, facility in correlating facts and an intellectual grasp that permits the application of information to new problems.

The Society holds an annual initiation ceremony and banquet. Each year a distinguished member of the medical profession is invited to speak at the initiation ceremony. The event this year was held on December 17, 1965 with Dr. Robert W. Kistner, Assistant Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Harvard Medical School as guest lecturer. The annual banquet and cocktail party was held at the John Marshall Hotel.

Rho Chi, the national pharmacy honor society is "to pharmacy what Phi Beta Kappa is to the Arts". It was founded at the University of Michigan in 1922 as the Aristolochian Society. The name Rho Chi was chosen in 1925 and a program of conservative expansion was begun. Lambda chapter was founded at the Medical College of Virginia in 1929 and is now one of 72 chapters.

Rho Chi is a member of the National Association of College Honor Societies.

The objectives of Rho Chi are promotion and recognition of high attainments in the pharmaceutical sciences. Scholarship, leadership, and character determine eligibility for membership.

Since its inception at Cornell Medical College in 1904, Phi Delta Epsilon has grown to include 41 chapters in the U.S.A. and Canada in addition to its 40 graduate clubs which perpetuate the fraternity's goals after graduation.

Phi Delta Epsilon has always considered itself a truly professional medical fraternity and unlike its more socially-oriented counterparts, Phi Delta Epsilon continues to place scholastic achievement, student-faculty-alumni contact and constant awareness of medical ethics as its goals.

In pursuing the science of medicine, Phi Delta Epsilon brings to MCV each year a great lecture from among the great minds of medicine. The Aaron Brown Memorial Lecture is the fraternity's contribution to the entire medical center. In the evening following the lecture, a dinner is held in honor of the speaker. In years past Honer Smith, Frederic Silverman, and William B. Schwartz were among our list of speakers. This March, Robert J. Huebler, Chief of the Laboratory of Infectious Diseases of the National Institute of Health spoke on "Viruses, Common Colds, and Cancer".

But Phi Delta Epsilon stresses more through the science of medicine. From the wisdom and integrity of our closely-associated alumni we are taught that medicine is still and must continue to be, an art, conceived in sympathy and born of necessity. The cry of pain—is the call for both the science and the art; the miracle drugs of the scientist to be administered with the warmth and compassion of the healer. In furthering student-faculty-alumni contact a gala cocktail party was sponsored this fall by Dr. Arnold Salzberg and faculty advisor.

This year the $250 annual Aaron Brown Scholarship was awarded to Myron Levine for his superior scholastic achievement.

A wives' club was inaugurated this year with the help of Mrs. Jack Hirsch and Mrs. Peter Leff.

This successful year was climaxed by the largest influx of inductees in many years who join us in Phi Delta Epsilon in the pursuit of knowledge and the furtherance of fellowship, remembering all the while that, in the words of Hippocrates, "Life is short, but the art is long".

Phi Chi

From the first chapter at the University of Vermont in 1889, Phi Chi has grown to become the largest national and international medical fraternity in the world. The real strength of Phi Chi lies in the local chapters and stems from the brotherhood of each individual member.

Theta Eta chapter here at MCV prides itself in being more than just a social fraternity. This year's guest lecture series, appropriately called "Life and Death", was highlighted with talks by Dr. David Hume, Chairman, Dept. of Surgery, and Dr. W. T. Thompson, Chairman, Dept. of Medicine.

Our "rush" and social season included a summer cook-out, the annual Phi Chi breakfast at the Richmond Academy of Medicine, a "quiet" combo Party with the PANICS, a FAVORITE CHARACTER costume party, and a port-initiation semiformal dance at the Hotel Richmond.

The wives of our members meet monthly and are an active, enthusiastic group. Their main project this 1965-1966 season has been a volunteer play therapy program with the pediatric patients at MCV-North Hospital. The wives held their annual benefit bridge this spring at MCV to provide for their volunteer program.

Alpha Kappa Kappa

In 1888, a group of students at the Dartmouth Medical School organized the Alpha Kappa Kappa Medical Fraternity. Their union was based on the principles of "social intercourse, mental development, scholarship, mutual assistance." Today, these concepts are basic not only to AKK but to the foundations of modern medical organizations. Here at MCV our chapter was chartered in 1906, and since then has been an asset to national AKK.

Alpha Kappa chapter has maintained a very active agenda for the past several years, and 1965-66 proved to be no exception. The fall season was highlighted by many excellent social functions, geared primarily to the acquisition of the best of the class of 69! The success of these events was realized in the bidding of forty-five rushees, the calibre of which foretells an even brighter future for Alpha Kappa.

In March we had our annual alumni sponsored initiation party, preceded by an initiation ceremony in the Richmond Academy of Medicine. Of the spring functions, the most enjoyable was the cocktail-combo party sponsored by one of our local alumni at his home.

This year has indeed been one of success and achievement for AKK, and it is with feelings of pride that we congratulate our graduating brothers, and with optimism that we anticipate the brotherhood of our new members.

Alpha Omega

Alpha Omega, National Dental Fraternity, was founded at the Philadelphia College of Dental Surgery in 1907. Its Alpha Beta Chapter was later established at MCV in 1928.

1965-1966 has been a good year for Alpha Beta Chapter Alpha Omega. Through the efforts of devoted officers and members we continue to sail forward with the initiation of 20 new members.

Our current class of pledges was initiated at a clinic dinner meeting in conjunction with our local Richmond Alumni Chapter.

In keeping with past custom, our meetings have been educationally oriented. We have frequently invited faculty members to address us on subjects of interest not previously covered in class. Alpha Beta will close the year with its annual dinner dance.

Delta Sigma Delta

As the session of 1965-66 draws to a close we, the members of Omicron Omicron Chapter of Delta Sigma Delta, feel that we have grown in spirit and stature through our association with Omicron Omicron.

It has been our privilege to have guest speakers bring a variety of subjects, for example, "income taxes" which might appear to have little relationship to dentistry but which have given us a deeper insight into the problems and opportunities of the future.

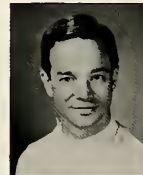

During the year there has been a series of enjoyable parties but perhaps none more so than the annual Christmas party for the children at the Methodist Home.

We have had a very active wives' club, which met monthly, during the entire session. This group was particularly helpful in making the Christmas party so successful and we look forward to their contribution for our outing which is to take place just before the end of the current term.

Delta Sigma Delta's annual regional conclave is to be held in April at Georgetown.

Psi Omega

Dentistry's largest national fraternity was launched at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1892, and since then alumni and our nation's dental schools have accepted and proliferated Psi Omega into Dentistry's best.

Men in dentistry have chosen their life's work and Psi Omega does not divert from this but augments it by the establishment of professional fellowship and pride projects, parties, and every fraternity activity to further instill concern and incentive in the Dental Profession.

The object of Psi Omega quoted from our constitution—

The object of the fraternity shall be to cultivate the social qualities of its members; to surround each member with friends to whom he can turn for advice and assistance when needed; to secure by cooperation benefits and advantages out of individual reach; by means of a journal to keep its members in touch with other members in all parts of the world; to assist its members in all their laudable undertakings; and to exert its influence untiringly for the advancement of the Dental Profession, in methods of teaching, practice, and of jurisprudence.

Psi Omega is a service to, and a fraternal find among its members and is not a political organization. At MCV our local chapter, "Gamma Omicron," is particularly proud of its members and their attitudes, not only is highly professional in its structure and execution but has been "known" to enjoy a party. Each meeting is distinguished by speakers who are also available for informal discussions. Not to be forgotten are the "Psi Omega Wives" of whom our local chapter is also quite proud. The wives have their own meetings and elections and each Christmas provide clothes, food, and toys for some Richmond family.

We have pride also in this year's pledges and may they perpetuate the intangible factors that supplement the "D.D.S." Degree and are such an integral part of the betterment of the Dental Profession.

 Omega Chapter
 Adopted by 1959 Convention

Kappa Epsilon, founded at the State University of Iowa on May 13, 1921, by Zeda M. Cooper, is a national professional fraternity for women students in pharmacy. Throughout the United States there are 31 collegiate chapters and 15 alumnae chapters. Tau Chapter of the Medical College of Virginia was chartered March 20, 1953, and since then has endeavored to fulfill the purposes of Kappa Epsilon which are to unite women students in pharmacy, to cooperate with the faculties of the colleges where chapters are established, to stimulate in its members a desire for high scholarship, to foster a professional consciousness, and to promote a bond of lasting loyalty and friendship.

In the fall of this year Tau Chapter welcomed the new girls in the School of Pharmacy with a picnic at the home of Mrs. Leeper, our chapter advisor. Christmas was celebrated with Phi Delta Chi Professional Pharmaceutical Fraternity at a party given to benefit a group of underprivileged children, the members having almost as much fun helping Santa (Pharmacy's School's Dean Weaver) distributing gifts as the children had opening them. Second quarter brought Rush and its traditional party culminating in the pledging of 20 girls at an impressive Pledge Ceremony. As the year drew to a close, the KE's were busy having our traditional Spring Banquet and the election and installation of new officers. The school year 1965-1966 has proven to be a very busy but rewarding year.

Phi Delta Chi

Phi Delta Chi, National Pharmacy Fraternity, was founded at the University of Michigan in 1883 with its objectives being to advance the profession of pharmacy and its allied interests, and to foster and promote a fraternal spirit among its members.

Alpha Delta Chapter was established at the Medical College of Virginia in 1925 and since then has functioned to maintain the basic beliefs of the practice of pharmacy.

Throughout the United States there are 44 chapters and 28 alumni or graduate chapters. It is the fraternity instrumental in the founding of Rho Chi, the national honorary scholastic fraternity of pharmacy and the Professional Inter-fraternity Conference. Phi Delta Chi was the first Professional Fraternity of Pharmacy organized by Pharmacists for Pharmacists.

As well as its formal spring banquet, the chapter has several worthwhile community projects. In October, Kappa Psi and Phi Delta Chi held a joint welcome back to school party. Phi Delta Chi participates each year in National Pharmacy Week by placing a window display in one of the local pharmacies. On two successive week ends in October, Phi Delta Chi went to Fredericksburg and aided in a project to refurbish the Hugh Mercer Apothecary Shop. For our Christmas project this year, in conjunction with Kappa Epsilon, we gave a party for 25 of the less fortunate children in Richmond, complete with gifts, refreshments, and Ole St. Nick. Efforts such as these are possible because of the spirit of brotherhood in the fraternity.

Pledging a fraternity gives a person responsibility and the opportunity to make decisions which are important in the maturing and character development of every man. In February, we initiated 25 pledges and one graduate member and are indeed proud to welcome them as brothers. We are proud and fortunate to have Mr. C. Eugene White, an alumnus of this chapter, to serve as our advisor.

Throughout the years Phi Delta Chi has given its brothers unity and friendship which will continue for many years.

Kappa Psi

Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity was founded at the Russell Military Academy in New Haven, Connecticut, May 30, 1879, by F. Harvey Smith. The first collegiate chapter was that of Delta at the University of Maryland on November 18, 1898. Beta Chapter was chartered in 1900 at the University College of Medicine in Richmond, Virginia; it was the fourth collegiate chapter formed. On March 19, 1904, Theta Chapter was installed at the Medical College of Virginia as the eighth collegiate chapter. In 1913, when the UCM merged with MCV, Theta Chapter remained as the active chapter of Kappa Psi.

In 1903, Kappa Psi was incorporated as a national fraternity for both medical and pharmacy students. In 1924, there was a division and the medical branch became Theta Kappa Psi.

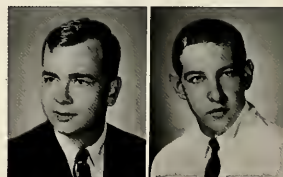

A professional fraternity offers the chance for men that will be working together after graduation to build up bonds that will last throughout life. We as Brothers in Kappa Psi endeavor to develop men with a finer sense of values and to encourage scholarship, integrity, leadership, and service. We attempt to broaden outside interests through extracurricular activities and to increase social poise as we maintain a professional spirit.

The privilege of membership in Kappa Psi carries with it certain responsibilities, such as to the fraternity, to brotherhood, to the college, to fellow students, and to the profession. We believe that men who assume these responsibilities will make a greater contribution to pharmacy and to the society in which we live.

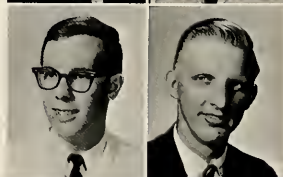

Kappa Psi started the year with 31 active brothers and received 23 new brothers into our ranks after rush season. Theta Chapter is extremely proud of the caliber of our new brothers, and we feel certain that they can carry on in the best Kappa Psi tradition.

Whether socially, academically, or with leadership, Kappa Psi is prominent in the School of Pharmacy.

Medicine

For his keen understanding, his unending interest in the student, his timely wit, his tested loyalty, and for his awareness of the needs of man as the doctor, student, and patient, we the class of 1966, dedicate this section of the annual to PATRICK H. DREWRY, M.D.

School of Medicine

CLASS OFFICERS: Pres., Aubrey Hall; Vice-Pres., John Smith; Sec.-Treas., Sally Abbott; Historian, Henry Holland

For the preceding four years we the class of 1966 have been in academic and clinical study, earnestly preparing ourselves to be competent physicians. What is a competent physician? In 80 BC Cicero said, "The competent physician, before he attempts to give medicine to his patient, makes himself acquainted not only with the disease which he wishes to cure, but also with the habits and constitution of the sick man." In essence for four years we have sought knowledge about disease and about the diseased man. Our competency will be measured in the amount and proper application of this knowledge.

The old physician was one who poured drugs of which he knew little into a body about which he knew less. We have an advantage; we have learned a vast amount about the human organism, disease, and medication. But, do we know more than the physician of the ancient world about the soul of the sick man? This is our additional challenge: in this period of specialization when each physician seems to be an expert on a favorite disease, we should strive to know our patients as people, be ready to listen, take nothing for granted, and take care never to underestimate the will of man.

Dentistry

School of Dentistry

It is with extreme pride and appreciation that we, the Senior Dental Class of 1966, dedicate our portion of the X-Ray to Dr. Richard P. Elzay, for his genuine enthusiasm and devotion toward educating others, for his continual guidance and concern, and for the wealth of knowledge with which he so admirably serves his profession.

Our years spent at MCV have indeed been memorable ones. We can easily recall days spent in lectures and labs, and occasional long nights spent in preparation for exams. We remember . . . courses such as biochemistry, neuroanatomy, and comparative dental anatomy, all which seemed to unimportant until now . . . the feeling of pride and accomplishment upon completing a slump test, reaching the dew point, or reserving an experience gained our second year when we delved into orthodontics and partial prosthodontics . . . the lectures by Dr. Mitchell, and the prolific typing of Miss Bevell in room 201 D.

At last the time had come—we were ready to practice our healing art upon living patients. At all times we appeared clean, courteous, and confident—whether entering a pulp chamber or battering a palate with a 10,000 rpm cotton roll. Constantly were we reminded of clinic rules and regulations. The crystal ball efficiency of the chart-room shall never be forgotten.

Above all, we learned that strong teeth alone are by no means a panacea. A healthy periodontium, influenced greatly by one's diet, is most basic and important. Foods such as carrots, cheeses, organ meats, and fresh fruits—although a queer assortment—are most beneficial in helping to establish and maintain healthy oral tissues.

Thus, accompanied by the contagious laughter of Ben Pritchett, the weird, leery whistle of the twilight zone, and an occasional round of "Al Dalola," we now go forth into society. Leaving the orange solvent for Mrs. Harrison and a new sharp explorer for Dr. Jones, we depart . . . our pockets bulging with sticky wax, saliva ejectors, and, of course, Duralay.

Although we remember the small events of the past few years, from Dr. Brashear's slides of man in ancient Pompeii to slides of modern man in forensic dentistry, and although we constantly bring to mind the little "nasty breaks" we've all had, this is what has added so much color and variety to our four years spent in learning the fundamentals of dentistry. Classes to follow can no doubt look forward to much of the same, even the endo final, which, next year, should be all "false" and no "true."

All humor aside, we can earnestly say we've gained much in the way of education and experience . . . and only as a result of being part of such a fine institution as the MCV School of Dentistry.

We thank all who taught and helped us—faculty, dental assistants, and personnel. We extend a note of "thanks" to Mr. Pearson, Mr. Knight, and Mr. Allen, and pay tribute to a true friend and noted educator Dr. Alton D. Brashear.

Pharmacy

School of Pharmacy

In sincere appreciation for all that he has done to further the practice and ideals of professional pharmacy, we the pharmacy class of 1966 dedicate our portion of the X-RAY to Mr. Norman L. Hilliard.

As the end of our four years in Pharmacy School draws to a close, we can't suppress our backward glances and mixed emotions. The years have passed more rapidly than we anticipated, and yet our wealth of memories and experiences provide some realization of the length of time involved.

In September, 1962, we were oriented and introduced to a rather rigorous routine of lectures, labs, and the inevitable exams. We fought our way through chemistry, biology, and introduction to pharmacy; and those who remained went forward into the sophomore year.

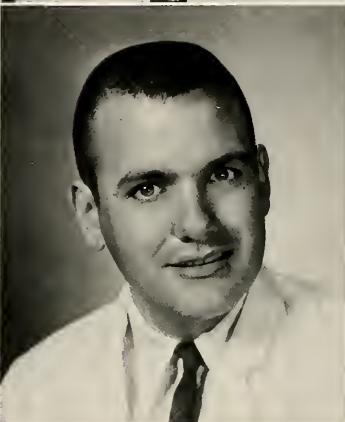

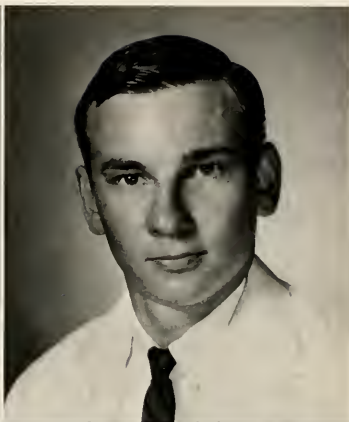

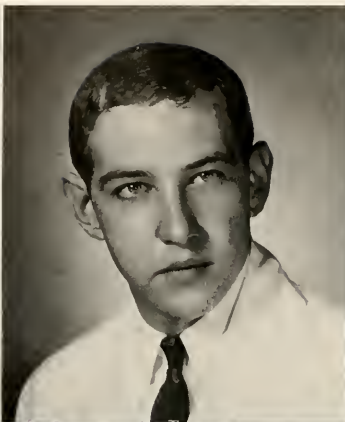

We entered this year of education with somewhat more confidence, but with a vague realization that we still had a vast area of unknown fields to investigate. There were some new members added to our ranks and together we braved comparative anatomy, quantitative analysis, and pharmaceutical calculations.

Our junior year brought the feel of a white lab jacket around our shoulders, and as we entered Galenical lab, we felt that at last the real secrets of Pharmacy were about to be opened to us. The courses we surmounted and the trials we bore, emerging to the long-awaited Senior year.

Now, with our goal in sight, we look back on incidents which will keep these years forever in our minds, look forward with expectation to our days following graduation to reap the satisfactions of these years of learning, and just look at the present—the senior trip, medical emergencies, pharmacology, specialties, ethics.

As we are about to venture out into the world as the 1966 graduates of the MCV School of Pharmacy, let us do our utmost to bring honor to our profession, our school, and to ourselves.

Nursing

School of Nursing

For your devotion in helping us fulfill our potentials in life as well as in nursing; for your enthusiasm and energy in giving us the best in nursing education; and for your example of dignity and poise, we, the senior class, with pride, respect, and appreciation dedicate this section of the 1966 X-RAY to you—Doris B. Yingling, Dean of the School of Nursing.

Class of 1966

Creativity, togetherness, responsibility . . . three guiding words which have become an intricate part of our maturing process during the past four years at the Medical College of Virginia.

There we were, swarming into Cabaniss Hall with bags and baggage in order to make the dream "ever since I was a little girl, I wanted to become a nurse" come true. At that time the words we heard were impressive, but as freshmen we found it difficult to comprehend their full meaning. Now that our vision has become the reality, we have also come to appreciate, practice, and pass on these virtues.

It was our freshman year that displayed togetherness. We immediately felt the warmth, interest and sincerity from our faculty, big sisters, and classmates. We plodded through chemistry and biology; groped through English and introduction to a profession; whizzed through sociology and psychology; and suffered through tests, quizzes, exams, papers, and projects. We ate, lived, studied, laughed, and cried. Yes, we did all these things—TOGETHER

Our sophomore year molded us even more. We were upperclassmen now; we had to set an example for the freshmen. We began to learn about CREATING . . . how God miraculously created the human body, how X's and Y's create us, how pathogens create disease, how compounds create life-saving drugs, and how we could help create health. Also we discovered that a hospital really existed. With butterfly stomachs, shaking hands, and wobbly knees we learned and practiced the theories, skills, and techniques of patient care.

Donning white uniforms and caps we embarked on a new adventure to experience RESPONSIBILITY. As juniors we progressed through the depths of the mind, the inner workings of the body, the wonder of birth, and the amazing world of childhood. Perhaps for the first time we felt our responsibility as a part of the medical team. Yes, we were almost ready to wake up from our dream!

Black bands symbolized our senior status and with it came the distinction of combining, organizing, and co-ordinating all three qualities for which we strived so hard to achieve—togetherness, creativity, responsibility.

Well, World, here we are venturing out ready to serve you. It's going to be a proud day when we receive that piece of rolled paper and when we can sign our names for the first time MISS PREPARED GRADUATE, R.N.

Graduate Studies

The graduate school has an enrollment of seventy-four students for the current year. These persons come from a number of states and six foreign countries. They are pursuing studies and projects in thirteen different disciplines leading, hopefully, to Masters or PhD degrees.

Degree programs first became available in 1957, however, work at the graduate level has been offered since 1934.

Graduate students follow individual course plans determined by their advisors in conference with the student. These tentative course plans, which can be adjusted if reason for so doing becomes evident, are based on the prior educational background of the student, his educational needs and the field of his interest and endeavor.

In addition to the very serious pursuit of knowledge, through our formal studies, projects, departmental seminars, the graduate student also finds time for occasional relaxation and companionship.

The graduate school affords the college graduate, who has been exposed to just enough knowledge to appreciate how vast is the storehouse, how little he knows, and the numerous areas open for exploration, an opportunity for mental growth and development under the instruction and guidance of outstandingly knowledgeable and capable persons.

Graduate School

To the graduate student, the institutional library is his reference center. Here at the Medical College of Virginia, graduate students have a very special assistant in our reference library, Mrs. Louise W. Morton. Whenever we need a specific text or even an ancient manuscript, we always find Mrs. Morton eager to aid us in our quest. In spite of a compelling work schedule and often with only meager information to go on, she manages to expand our research horizon and somehow get the material, from outside libraries when required, with utmost courtesy and dispatch.

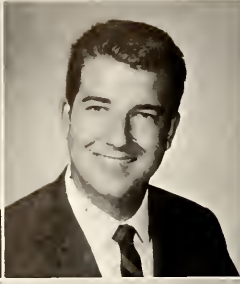

The graduate student will long remember Mrs. Morton as a cherished friend who is never too busy to help solve even the most complicated problem.

So, though we can never adequately express our gratitude to you, Mrs. Morton, for your tireless efforts on our behalf, we wish to show our deep appreciation and respectfully dedicate this section of the book to you.

Hospital Administration

Eagerly awaiting that first lecture!

In September 1965 a group of men and women of diverse backgrounds were brought together from many distant localities to share two years of stimulating experiences and close associations as graduate students in hospital administration.

Under the tutelage of experienced administrators in a multidisciplinary academic setting this group . . . our class . . . came to realize the great scope of knowledge needed in our chosen profession. We learned that the problems facing us as future administrators have no standard answer but instead must be approached by critical analysis and by the application of the principles of sound management. Constantly we were challenged to despise ordinary learning achievement and to strive for excellence. In this stimulating learning atmosphere, close associations, friendships and even marriage developed. Time passed by rapidly and we found ourselves in the residency phase of our program, confronted by new experiences which we shared with one another and with the junior class during our seminar sessions. Theses and oral examinations loomed as our next hurdles along the way, but seemingly in a twinkling of the eye, they too became part of the past.

Now we stand at the threshold of the future, knowing full well that our profession requires of each of us not only superior knowledge but also such personal qualities as understanding, compassion, sincerity of purpose and dignity. To meet the challenges of tomorrow we will draw heavily on the inspiration and preparation given to us by our faculty and preceptors.

Nevertheless, each of us is aware that there is also another source of guidance and strength available to us, as John Hayes expressed in these words:

O Lord, in my important task
I need Thy guiding hand.
Give me the qualities I ask,
To care, to understand;
To do the many things each day
Which arise in this, my calling,
In which, with Thy great help, I may Avoid mistakes befalling.

. . . From "A Hospital Administrator's Prayer"

For his straightforwardness, for the inspiration he gave in meeting new challenges, and for his personal interest in each student's growth, we, the Class of 1966, dedicate this section of the X-Ray to Mr. Thomas Jordan, Assistant Professor in the School of Hospital Administration, with the deepest feelings of admiration, respect, and appreciation.

As we began our final year of undergraduate work at MCV, we found the atmosphere to be quite different from our previous three years of college. We felt like Freshmen again! We entered the world of white uniforms and white shoes, classes from 8:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M., sticking, urine micros, blood counts, weekly tests and frequent exams.

Through patient contact, we soon realized that few people know or understand just what a Medical Technologist is and of what her work consists. Our work is done in the hospital laboratory, where we aid the physician in his diagnosis and in the response of the patient to medication. We work in various laboratory fields, such as Blood Banking, Hematology, Urinalysis, Parasitology and Chemistry.

Aside from our studies and our work in the lab, we have memories of our times together, the real enjoyment of playing Santa to three children, our Christmas party, dinners after tests, and of embroidery and knitting during our breaks. For all of us, our year at MCV will be a year to remember.

Class of 1966

For her understanding and guidance, for her encouragement and thoughtfulness, the Class of 1966 of The School of Medical Technology proudly dedicates their section of the yearbook to Miss Carol Lynch, their assistant instructor and friend.

Physical Therapy

To one who has been truly a friend and offered many a smile and moment of pleasant conversation to brighten the day and a bit of encouragement when things looked dim—to one who has graciously offered her assistance and willingly taken the time to perform many little tasks for us, we, the Class of 1966, dedicate our section of the X-Ray to Mrs. Nancy Jenson, Secretary of the School of Physical Therapy.

September 1964—"Our Class" first began its existence on the 3rd and 4th floors of Memorial Hospital—remember falling ceilings?—completely naive as to what the next 2 years held in store for them (just wait!).

By Thanksgiving we had learned that connective tissue was comparable to an orderly arrangement of "spaghettis and peas" and at the same time learned to accept returned test papers that appeared to be bleeding to death. Everything we tried to grasp as concrete we found to be just a concept. Christmas, just another concept that year, came and went as we plunged into physiology with "Daddy". In anatomy we learned about "little mice" while some domestic members of the class knitted muscles for the skeleton. Afternoons were spent going by way of the Skull and the front lawn of McGuire to "Living Anatomy Lab" to dissect—3 weeks on the brachial plexus?

Spring "ah ha!" and we began looking forward to June. Coffee-drinking, gum-chewing, nail-biting junior P.T.'s were cramming for the one culminating event—the anatomy final and oral. Ah-h—at long last—summer vacation and our first affiliation.

September 1965—Right away we discovered how much we didn't retain from "introductory" physiology. Also, we still haven't come up with a solution for taking notes to double-time cadence with the "molar mechanics" in neuro histology.

In Memorial we learned to cook potatoes eggs, and meat with galvanic current, how to wake a dozing student with ice massage, and how to teach a normal person to do a gluteus maximus or medius gait.

We listened to Christmas music in the dorm from October to January as we carefully wadded newspaper and peddled our river-party pumpkin from room to room. Excited about being a responsible P.T., we left for our 2 week affiliation ready to "plug him into the wass, honey" and knowing that passive stretching was "not the thing to do."

Third quarter began in the usual bustling manner—getting ready for our final in neuro, finishing PAL papers, making job applications, and planning our senior class outing, and, as usual, studying in extra moments for those necessary little "squeezes."

Now as we are approaching our final few weeks of school, we find ourselves opening our eyes more and more to the responsibility that lies before us. We end our school career, eager to begin our professional one. However, these two years have brought our class together with many bonds, and now we must lessen these bonds as our former classmates are separated.

SK&F Foreign Fellows Have Gone to

INDIA, TANZANIA, IRAN, GUATEMALA

At hospitals and medical outposts abroad, medical students contribute to international understanding and goodwill by helping to provide much-needed medical services to people in developing areas of the world.

This unusual opportunity to work and study in foreign countries is offered to students through the Foreign Fellowships Program of Smith Kline & French Laboratories. Administered by the Association of American Medical Colleges, the program has enabled 180 students to work and study in more than 40 countries during the past six years. Junior and senior medical students are eligible for Fellowships, which provide on the average 12 weeks' work abroad, to be completed before internship. Interested students should apply through the deans of their schools.

Smith Kline & French has published an illustrated 24-page booklet telling the story of SK&F's Foreign Fellowships Program. For your free copy of "Fellowships in Medicine," write to: SK&F Services Department, Smith Kline & French Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19101.
